

29,6

29,7

A diagram of a simple crane. It features a vertical support structure with a pulley at the top. A rope is attached to a fixed point on the left, passes under the pulley, and then up to a horizontal beam. The beam is supported by a vertical post. A weight is suspended from the end of the beam. The diagram is labeled with 'a' and 'b'.

[illegible]

